... a l'armonia sì intento ... is a reflection on Poem 156 of Petrarch's Rime sparse. It is a further expansion, like my ... dreams, shadows, and smoke (for flute, viola and harp or guitar), of an earlier work for solo viola, ... sogni, ombre, et fume.

PH

I' vidi in terra angelici costumi et celesti bellezze al mondo sole, tal che di rimembrar mi giova et dole ché quant' io miro par sogni, ombre, et fumi.

Et vidi lagrimar que' duo bei lumi ch' àn fatto mille volte invidia al sole, et udi' sospirando dir parole che farian gire i monti et stare i fumi.

Amor, senno, valor, pietate, et doglia facean piangendo un più dolce concento d'ogni altro che nel mondo udir si soglia;

ed era il cielo a l'armonia sì intento che non se vedea in ramo mover foglia, tanta dolcezza avea pien l'aere e 'l vento.

I saw on earth angelic qualities and heavenly beauties unique in the world, so that the memory pleases and pains me,
for whatever I look on seems dreams, shadows,
and smoke.

And I saw those two beautiful lights weeping that have a thousand times made the sun envious, and I heard amid sighs words that would make mountains move and rivers stand still.

Love, wisdom, worth, piety, and sorrow made, weeping, a sweeter music than any other to be heard in the world;

and the heavens were so intent upon the harmony that no leaf on any branch was seen to move, so much sweetness filled the air and the wind.

Performance note:

If possible, the six cellists should sit in a circle, facing inwards, towards each other, with the audience around the circle of performers. A single spotlight above the performers would be ideal, with the rest of the room in darkness. If this arrangement is not possible, try to achieve the closest to it - the impression should be that the ensemble of cellists is a single sound source.

Harmonics (all natural) are indicated in the score simply as the sounding note with a 'o' symbol. In the individual parts the normal convention, showing fingering, is followed.

During long tied notes, players are to change direction of bow if necessary, but always as smoothly as possible, keeping the sound continuous.

Very slow ($\downarrow = \text{ca } 36 / \uparrow = \text{ca } 72$)
