PLUS CA CHANGE - PERFORMANCE INSTRUCTIONS

Tempo & Synchronisation

(1) Most of the score is marked off in bars of 5 seconds' duration. The ideal setup would be to have a large digital clock to which both players could easily refer. Alternatively each player could have a stop watch on his or her music stand, synchronised at the beginning of the performance.

(2) The beat can be fairly fluid within the bars (a notional $J = 60$ in 5/4 where the score is written in seconds.) Rubato is allowed provided the notes do happen roughly within the 5 seconds allotted. However, the beat should be strictly adhered to in passages with specific metronome markings, eg:

(3) It is essential that the performers get to know the tape part really well. There are fairly obvious shifts in texture which herald each new section, so if a player gets slightly out of synch it should be possible to slot back in at various 'landmarks'. The principle landmarks are as follows:

- (i) ca. 2'00 an obvious climax in the development of the opening tape sound followed by a low rumble.
- (ii) ca. 3'00 - 3'05 ; the return of the high loop heard in the previous climax (~ ~ ~). N.B. the pitch (G#) echoes that of the violin.
- (iii) ca. 4'30 ; as for (ii).
- (iv) at 5'25 the crossfade to a new sound environment; introduction of a blanket loop of the harmonic glissando in the violin.
- (v) from 6'40 to 6'50 crossfade to wild strumming.
- (vi) from 7'15 to 7'30 brittle accented marimba tremolo.
- (vii) at 7'30 more wild strumming.
- (viii) at 8'30 return of the low rumble.
- (ix) at 9'00 col legno bouncing bow sound on tape prepares the tempo for the section between 9'15 and 11'10.
- (x) at 10'15 the tape comes back in again.

(xi) ca. 11'00 the entry of the last new sound (~~~~~)
(a multilayered sample.)

(4) Between 6'20 and 6'40 the violin plays at $J = 132$ while the marimba continues to negotiate the 5 second bars. This process is repeated between 7'15 and 7'40.

(5) At ca. 9'00, 9'05 and 9'10 the tape plays the bouncing bow loop at $J = 92$ (. . .) This generates the tempo for 3 brief bursts from the marimba and violin, each followed by a marimba tremolo chord which is held until the next burst.

(6) Between ca. 9'30 and ca. 10'15 the tape is tacet but running. The marimba and violin continue at $J = 92$. The $\frac{5}{4}$ beat stays the same throughout.

NOTATION

*PLEASE NOTE: Accidentals apply within the 5 second bars, only for the octave in which they are written.

N.B. The tape part is on DAT and runs continuously from the beginning of the piece. A copy of the DAT may be obtained from the BMC.

Marimba Part:

(1) All tremoli marked with an "X" should be played with the wrong end of the mallet.

the wrong end of a mallet along the vertical tubes underneath the marimba.

Violin Part:

(1)

indicates a glissando through the harmonics of an open string (the pitch of the open string is indicated in brackets within the stave.)

(col legno)

bounce the bow on this note, col legno where indicated. (Violinists who prefer not to play col legno may use a suitably dry alternative e.g. using the edge of the bow hairs.)
